

Something for Every Reader

Dive into one of these great books this fall. They're worth the read!

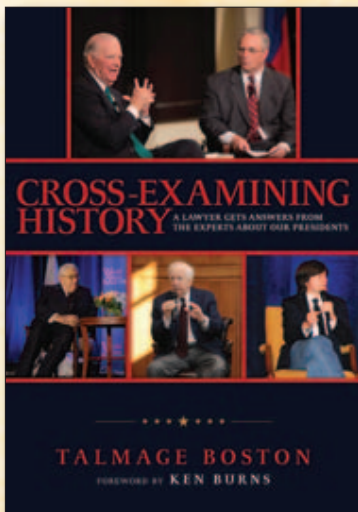

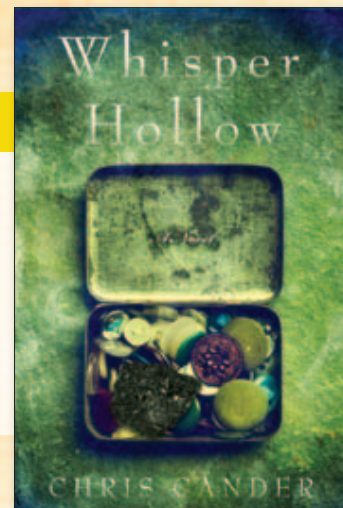

Smitty Hits the (Play) Books by Wade Smith and Jayme Lamm

There is not a better “work hard, do your best” book for kids. When Smitty’s obsession with football becomes more important than his schoolwork, his mom decides football has to go. Smitty is devastated and realizes – with help from his teacher – that hard work and perseverance are important not only on the playing field but also in the classroom and with everything else in life.

Whisper Hollow by Chris Cander

Set in the small, coal-mining town of Verra, West Virginia, Whisper Hollow is a novel full of secrets, guilt, loves lost and found, betrayal and devout religion. Although covered in the fine gray coal dust that coats the entire town, Cander’s characters shine with a beauty that is as intricate as the soft, green ivy woven among the garden fence planted many generations ago. This book is highly recommended.

Cross-Examining History: A Lawyer Gets Answers From the Experts About Our Presidents by Talmage Boston

Take a front row, aisle seat in the courtroom of presidential history. Boston, a Dallas attorney, knows how to ask the tough questions and does so here with the leading presidential historians and Washington insiders like we have never seen before. He shares through 31 transcribed interviews – some taking place in Houston – the story behind the story of our favorite commanders-in-chief. ▶
